OBJECTIVE

Our graduates-to-be will become effective communicators and critical thinkers, the degree equips them with the ability to pursue professional and academic opportunities of their interest. The holistic nature of the program empowers students to take up a wide range of internships, projects and field work.

Over the first two years of the BA, students train in the foundational aspects of the liberal arts and humanities through core courses, electives at JLSH and select courses across the different schools of the University. They do one-month internships between every semester. In the final year of the BA they choose a major – one subject – as an area for concentrated study and they write a thesis. The thesis in the third year is a detailed work of substantial length and depth over a subject specialism.
